

HOTEL SAN MARCOS OPENS TOMORROW 18-HOLE GRASS GOLF LINKS COMPLETED; CAMPING AND HUNTING ARRANGED FOR

The hotel San Marcos will open for its third season on Monday, November first, with Mrs. W. H. Robinson, newly installed as manager, and Miss C. Hilton, an experienced hotel manager and clerk. While the kitchen crew will largely be the same, instead of using men in the dining room, young women will be employed, with Miss Maude Bentley, who comes from a leading California hotel, as head waitress.

Ever since the hotel first opened its doors the San Marcos has tried to be something more than simply a place where board and lodging could be obtained. In this it has been most successful. To guests who have been there the San Marcos means luxury without ostentation, quiet elegance, a generous hospitality that has a flavor of the old Spanish days, and besides an atmosphere all to go. The nine original holes were sowed to Bermuda grass in the summer of 1914, but too late to make a stand that fall; this spring nine holes more were sowed. The original fairways took like a lawn now, and the nine new holes are almost as good. You'll never believe it till you see it—but it's there!

The links were laid out according to the plans of Harry Collins, the well known professional, who has charge of the Pecosmoor links, Chicago, in the summer and the San Marcos in the winter.

The nine hole putting course and the tennis courts adjoining the hotel, which were so popular last season, will be retained.

Last season the guests of the hotel derived so much pleasure in visiting the many points of interest about Chandler that arrangements have been made for the coming season that will

its own, brought into being, doubtless, by the personality back of the hotel, but fostered, perhaps, by the spirit of the desert, so close at hand, by the broad sweep of green fields just beyond its doors, and brought to fruition by Arizona's golden sun and turquoise skies.

Ever since it started, out-of-doors recreations have been made prominent at the San Marcos. This year they are to be still further emphasized, golf will have first place. The links have been enlarged from nine to eighteen holes, and all the fairways have been sodded to grass-to grass. Think of that, you golfers who have been dubbing around on dirt courses ever since Col. Beale first came to Arizona—dirt courses that in the fall would be soft, in the winter range all the way from dust to mud, and in the spring the grass and weeds would be so high you couldn't find the ball! Just imagine a course that is one great stretch of velvet grass, cut to proper length with a mower—no dust, no glare of sun-baked earth, no weeds and, as long as you keep your ball on the fair green, it perches on the top of even cut turf ready to be swatted from any distance you want enable visitors to see them under the best possible conditions.

To those who prefer nature extenuated with modern comforts, automobiles will be provided, which can make most of the trips returning the same day. To those with whose relations with out-of-doors is of a more intimate character, who can actually find pleasure in getting up to dawn to see a sunrise, and who will linger on the desert till the stars come out to watch the shadows purple in the canyons of the mountains; to him who doesn't object to a reasonable amount of sand getting into his shoes, and believes that the odor of broiling steak over a camp fire, mingled with the scent of sage, is as incense to the gods; to such the hotel offers a different plan, and introduces Bill Huggert, "kibbe, philosopher and friend."

Mr. W. W. Huggert, who has been following western trails ever since he was old enough to wear shoes, has a camp outfit de luxe, which includes plenty of saddle horses; six, fine, shag-tail mules and a wagon. I hate to start in at even hinting at what that wagon contains, but tents with telescopic aluminum poles and a canvas floor, a cook outfit that is equal to anything from billed venison to jelly cakes, collapsible cots, tables, chairs and what not is only beginning.

Trips can be arranged for to nearby points like the San Tan, the Roosevelt dam, Apache Springs, in the Superstition Mountains, Casa Grande ruins, San Juan Mission, pictured rocks and the like, or longer trips to the cliff dwellings, San Xavier, Tumacacori or, if it is a hunting party, back into the Mogollon and White mountains where bear, turkey and deer can be had. Mr. Huggert keeps a pack of hounds for lion and cat hunting, and a pack outfit to go where a wagon can't.

PHOENIX ART MUSEUM A NUCLEUS PROPOSED

Purchase of a Picture for a Beginning.

Benjamin Brown, William Wendt, and Hansen Puffoff form a trio of Southern California's most noted artists whose work is accepted in the best artistic exhibitions in the country. These gentlemen are among those who will be represented at the art exhibition of the Arizona State Fair this year in the newly constructed art hall of the woman's building. For the first time in the history of the state fair the art exhibit, which has outgrown its small beginnings, will have adequate accommodations. A perfect wall for hanging pictures has been planned and is now in course of construction, while an additional treat for the lovers of good pictures will be the benches that will be arranged along the wall upon which visitors can rest while viewing the exhibit.

A picture for Phoenix as a beginning of a permanent art display will be purchased this year if the plans of the committee are carried out. Experience has proved that this fosters an annual art exhibition and stimulates it more than any other thing. It is proposed, since the children of today will be those of tomorrow who can get the greatest good from such a permanent display, to ask them all to assist in providing the money for the purchase of such a picture. A picture obtained now, at from $150 to $200 or so, will in all probability in several years be worth several times its purchase price. This is the ordinary history of artistic offerings.

The plan of obtaining the money will be considered Tuesday, Nov. 9th, as "Gift Day," when all the children in the graded schools will be given an opportunity to contribute one penny toward the purchasing of this picture. The pupils of the high school will be asked to give a nickel each for the fund. When the picture is purchased it will be hung in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce until other and permanent quarters are obtained for the proposed collection.

It is hoped that the work thus started will make of Phoenix the art center of the state. Already much has been done in this direction so that the eastern magazines are talking about Phoenix in that regard, but more work will be required before the desired position is reached. When this is reached the impetus thus obtained will be such as to carry it along of itself, self-perpetuating, by reason of its existence.

THE BENCH SHOW AT THE STATE FAIR

A Large Number of Entries Is Assured

Local dog fanciers, as well as many owners throughout the state, are getting busy for the coming bench show, and the large number of entries to date shows a marked increase over any year heretofore. In the management is making preparations to handle more animals than in any previous year. A remarkably large number of inquiries from towns throughout the state have been received and many dogs never before placed on the local bench will be seen here. The coming event of dogdom promises to be one of the big features of the fair.

The competition this year is going to be exceedingly keen in several of the popular breeds, such as the Boston Terriers, Bulls, Airdales and Collies. Boston will be a strong class and several fine animals of this well known breed are slated to compete for honors. As usual, Collies will be represented by a large entry list. Several choice show and breeding specimens from the Allah Collie Kennels will be on exhibition, but not to compete for prizes. The famous international champion "Seedley Boy" is, that has won over fifty cups and trophies throughout the United States, will be one of the features of the show. This star performer has four championships to her credit and has met and defeated every female Collie of note in America and Canada.

It is officially announced by the management that arrangements for space have been made to handle all dogs desiring entry. The entry books, however, will be closed on November 13, and positively no entries will be accepted after that date. A. H. Fitz, superintendent of the department, advises all exhibitors to file their entries early, stating breed, age, owner and name of dog. Blanks can be secured at State Fair headquarters, 200 West Washington street, or by addressing A. H. Fitz, superintendent, 2203 West Jefferson street, Phoenix.

ARIZONA PATENTS—Hazard, Berry & Miller, The Pioneer Patent Agency of Los Angeles, have received by wire from Washington, notice of the issuance yesterday of a patent for a flame gate to Archibald J. Blakely, of Chandler, and for a cue to James T. Teague, of Holbrook, Arizona.

CREAMERY MEETING

A number of Chandler people attended the creamery meeting in Phoenix, Friday, among those attending being Mrs. J. W. White, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gardner, E. W. Monroe and W. J. Lemke.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. L. H. Morrison entertained a few young people Friday evening in honor of her son, Elmo, the occasion being his seventeenth birthday anniversary. Those enjoying the evening were: Glenn Adams, Mildred Russell, Ruth Dana, Bruce Robinson, Randolph Russell and Elmo Morrison. Ice cream and cake were served late in the evening.

SPRAINS ANKLE

While working on the hospital at Sacaton, Thursday, C. R. Chitwood fell off a scaffold and severely sprained his ankle. It will be several days before he will be able to get around without the help of crutches.

Hayden Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holmes, formerly of Hayden, but who for the past year have been located at Miami, arrived in Hayden Tuesday, after a three months' motor trip at the exposition. Mr. Holmes continued on to Oatman on Thursday, but Mrs. Holmes will remain in Hayden for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Petro returned on Tuesday from Phoenix, where they have been visiting for two weeks. Mr. Berry, representing Lytham's Music Co. of Phoenix, was in town this week on one of his regular business trips, and disposed of several new instruments here and in Winkelman.

Owing to the fact that many of the auto drivers continued to drive at a reckless speed, our frequent reports, Mr. Moffatt has had a series of breakers built across the streets at various points, and as a result pedestrians can safely traverse them.

Walter Brandis returned Tuesday from Phoenix, where he has been on business.

Dr. Butler of Mammoth was in Hayden Thursday, in consultation with Mrs. Norman and Hart in the case of Mrs. William Morris.

Those who were present at the meeting of the young people on Tuesday night to consider the organization of an Epworth League, report that the grounds are very encouraging for a thriving organization this winter.

Temporary officers were elected and are: Mr. Kells, president; Miss Palm, vice president; Mr. Masterson, secretary and treasurer; Miss Page, organist. Several committees were appointed and it was decided to have a social gathering once a month. The first devotional meeting will be held next Sunday night at 6:30 o'clock, with Mr. Kells as leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tuckey left on Friday's train for Phoenix. Their many friends are sorry to learn of their intention to locate elsewhere, as since their marriage, nearly two years ago, they have made their home here and will be greatly missed. Mrs. Tuckey will visit for some time with friends in Phoenix, while Mr. Tuckey will proceed to Oatman, where he expects to locate.

William Ruff of Collier's Publishing Co. was in Hayden this week on one of his regular trips.

Much sorrow was felt when the news spread throughout the town that Mrs. William Morris passed away at eight o'clock on the evening of Friday, October 29. While her friends were aware of her critical condition, they continued to hope for her recovery till the last. Mrs. Morris had been very ill for three weeks from a complication of diseases which resulted in congestion of the brain. Her mother had been called to her bedside two weeks ago. Funeral services will be conducted at the residence on Spring street at 11:30, and the family will leave on the train for Surprise, Calif., her girlhood home, where interment will be made by the side of her father and her infant daughter. Mrs. Morris was 33 years old on the 4th of July and was a native of Aurora, Ill. She is survived by a mother, her husband and a little daughter. During the year of her life in Hayden Mrs. Morris greatly endeared herself to a wide circle of friends, whose deep sympathy will go with the bereaved family on their sad errand.

S. S. WORKERS MEET AT TEMPE

Maricopa County District of the Methodist Episcopal Church held All-Day Sessions at Southside Town. Delegates to Report

Two sessions of the district Sunday school convention of Maricopa county, will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church in Tempe today. Delegations from all of the surrounding communities are expected, and if the conference works out as successfully as all indications point to, it is very likely that quarterly meeting dates will be set aside.

The conference opens this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the program as printed in full in The Republican of Thursday morning, will be followed out. "The Worker's Conference" is the title of an address that J. M. Stewart will give and following that an address on "Home Department" will be delivered by R. W. Getsinger. The reports from the delegates to the state convention will be heard. Congregation singing and special musical numbers under the direction of Professor J. L. Johnson are important parts to the program.

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock the Sunday school workers will again gather at the Methodist church and "Organized Classes" will be discussed at some length by Walter Hill, and "Missions" by W. D. Hinebaugh. "The Sunday School Doctor" will be spoken of by Rev. Joe Hedgepeth. Special musical numbers will also be given at this session.

The meeting of today is the first of its kind to be held in the county. More interest in the Sunday school work is the idea to be worked out, and the addresses of both the afternoon and evening programs will be directed much to that end.
